JOHN KRIER TAPPED TO LEAD FONTAINE MILITARY PRODUCTS BUSINESS UNIT

JASPER, ALABAMA -- Chuck Eminger, President of Fontaine Military Products in Jasper, Alabama, announces his intention to retire effective August 15th 2016. "Chuck enters his retirement with our best wishes and with our appreciation for his many years of service in leadership roles throughout this organization," remarked Hank Prochazka, President of Fontaine Transportation Equipment Group. John Krier, President of Fontaine Heavy-Haul in Springville, Alabama, will assume the additional responsibilities of Fontaine Military Products and will be the President for both businesses. In his expanded role, Krier will be tasked to assemble and mentor leadership teams for both the Springville and Jasper groups.

"I welcome this new challenge, and I am confident that it will provide new opportunities to implement our customer focused business philosophy," remarked Krier upon the announcement. "I intend to build on the solid foundation laid by Chuck and to continue strengthening and improving this customer focused business while minimizing the cyclical fluctuations associated with the industries we serve," he concluded. "Serving military customers is an honor, and we look forward to an even brighter future for this important business segment as we develop new solutions to help our global customers," added Dan Giles, Vice-President of Fontaine Military Products.
